

Amy McPherson Joins Land Development, Zoning & Environmental Group in Tampa as a Shareholder

TAMPA, FL – September 3, 2024 – Stearns Weaver Miller announced that Amy McPherson (formerly Amy Huber) has joined the firm's Tampa office as a Shareholder in the Land Development, Zoning & Environmental group. Amy represents clients in a variety of multifaceted land use and permitting and entitlement issues. She guides clients from the initial phases of development, through the public hearing approval process, throughout the permitting process, and in litigation. Amy also has experience working with federal and state agencies on environmental permitting matters.

For nearly two decades Amy practiced in South Florida, and successfully secured development approvals for various large-scale projects, including shopping center redevelopments, educational and religious institutions, and residential and commercial developments. Prior to joining the firm, Amy maintained her own practice in Dunedin, Florida servicing clients throughout Pinellas County.

"With deep-rooted connections in Miami and extensive experience in Pinellas County, Amy's in-depth understanding of these local markets will be instrumental as we continue to strengthen our presence across Florida," said Reggie Bouthillier, Shareholder and Chair of the group. "We look forward to the invaluable insights and skills Amy will bring to our growing practice."

Amy's addition is part of the ongoing growth of the firm's Land Development, Zoning & Environmental group. Over the past five years, the group has grown its footprint statewide with the addition of 18 new members including attorneys, planners and a Geographic Information System (GIS) Analyst. Last month, Patrice Boyes also joined the group in the Tampa office.

"I am excited to join a firm with a preeminent reputation and statewide presence. The firm's scale and scope of resources will enhance my ability to help clients tackle complex legal and business challenges. I look forward to collaborating with a talented team and being part of the firm's continued success," said McPherson.

Amy earned her J.D. from the University of Miami School of Law and her B.S. from Barry University.
