OVERVIEW

"Grace is strategic, creative and efficient...She's super smart; she can map it out, peer around corners and get you prepped for trial effectively...She's a deep thinker and knows her cases very well...Grace is a brilliant lawyer. She is incredible."

- Chambers USA 2021-2024

Grace Mead is a trial and appellate lawyer. For over 20 years, she has represented clients in high-stakes cases around the country, including in class actions, mass actions, government litigation, and corporate and securities litigation. Before joining the Firm, she clerked for the Honorable Jerry E. Smith of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit, and was an associate in a prominent New York law firm. Grace graduated with High Honors, Order of the Coif, from the University of Chicago Law School, where she was Editor-in-chief of the Law Review. In her spare time, she wrote and published a novel, Defense of an Other, which is available on Amazon (hint, hint).

REPRESENTATIVE EXPERIENCE

Class Actions

Represented the vacation ownership company Bluegreen Vacations Unlimited, Inc. defending against a proposed class action filed in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida asserting claims under the Telephone Consumer Protection Act and seeking damages of over $420 million. The district court denied class certification, and the Eleventh Circuit affirmed.

Represented national vacation ownership company defending against a proposed class action filed in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida asserting claims under the Military Lending Act and seeking to rescind vacation ownership contracts entered into nationwide over at least the prior two years. After extensive discovery, the District Court affirmed the Magistrate's Report and Recommendation finding that the plaintiffs lacked Article III standing and dismissing the case. The Eleventh Circuit affirmed the dismissal.

Represented the national vacation ownership company and title company as defendants in a class action removed to the United States District Court for the Western District of Missouri alleging the unauthorized practice of law, which sought damages of over $20 million. On every claim asserted, the District Court granted defendants' motion for summary judgment.

Represented Miami metropolitan business in defending a class action brought under the Telephone Consumer Protection Act in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida seeking class-wide damages of about $90 million. The district court denied class certification.

Represented Bluegreen defending against a proposed class action in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Wisconsin alleging violations of the Wisconsin Timeshare Act and seeking to rescind about half of the vacation ownership contracts entered into in Wisconsin over about five years. The district court denied class certification.

Represented Bluegreen defending against a proposed class action in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida alleging claims of fraud and deceptive practices over the prior four years in selling well over $1 billion in vacation ownership interests to purchasers nationwide. After filing a motion to dismiss on behalf of Bluegreen, the district court dismissed three of the four claims with prejudice. After the close of fact discovery and the completion of briefing on the plaintiffs' motion for class certification, plaintiffs withdrew their motion for class certification, abandoning the argument that Bluegreen's policies and procedures were fraudulent or deceptive, and took the position that doing so eliminated subject matter jurisdiction under the Class Action Fairness Act. After considering Eleventh Circuit precedent requiring dismissal for lack of subject matter jurisdiction if the case never should have been brought as a class action in the first place, the district court then dismissed the case for lack of subject matter jurisdiction. After the individual plaintiffs sued in Florida Circuit Court, that Court entered summary judgment for Bluegreen.

Represented Miami metropolitan business in defending against proposed class action in Florida Circuit Court. Plaintiff alleged that he and members of a proposed class spanning over five years were overcharged in violation of Florida statutes and also asserted a cause of action for unjust enrichment. After discovery, briefing, and argument, the Florida Circuit Court denied class certification and struck the class allegations in the operative complaint. The individual claims were then dismissed.

Represented a publicly-traded financial institution and its subsidiary national bank as Florida counsel with Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz defending against a proposed class action on behalf of certain borrowers. The district court dismissed most of the claims, and the case then settled on favorable terms.

Corporate and Securities Litigation

Represented national vacation ownership company as defendant in United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, where over 100 owners at The Manhattan Club had asserted various claims and touted damages of over $100 million. The district court dismissed the single federal claim with prejudice and declined to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the remaining claims.

Represented Bluegreen as plaintiff in Florida Circuit Court challenging a condominium board's refusal to hold free and fair owner elections for the condominium's board of directors. After years of litigation and discovery, the Circuit Court entered summary judgment and an injunction ordering a free and fair owner election. The Fifth District Court of Appeal affirmed that summary judgment order for Bluegreen.

Represented a publicly-traded holding company, BFC Financial Corporation, now BBX Capital Corporation, its subsidiaries, and certain officers and directors in 10 shareholder class actions, 8 of which were resolved with defendants paying no money to the plaintiffs. Included in those was the dismissal with prejudice of a complaint seeking to challenge the merger of BFC and BBX valued at over $250 million because the Florida appraisal statute provided the exclusive remedy, which has since been affirmed by Florida's Fourth District Court of Appeal.

Represented publicly-traded online publisher and comparison service for financial products and services as Florida counsel with Wachtell Lipton in litigation filed in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida alleging securities fraud in the wake of the announcement of an investigation into restating prior financial results. After the district court dismissed the consolidated and amended complaint, case settled on favorable terms.

Represented publicly-traded biopharmaceutical firm as Florida counsel in a series of lawsuits alleging securities law violations and breaches of fiduciary duty in the wake of an announcement of an investigation into restating prior financial results. Settled on favorable terms.

Represented publicly-traded financial institution in merger litigation brought by shareholder on behalf of a putative class seeking to block the bank's acquisition for about $190 million. Defeated plaintiff's motion for expedited discovery and proceedings in aid of a temporary injunction, and plaintiff filed notice of voluntary dismissal.

Represented a publicly-traded financial institution and its subsidiary national bank as Florida counsel with Wachtell Lipton against federal securities and other claims arising from the collapse of Bernard L. Madoff Investment Securities. The district court granted a motion to dismiss with prejudice, in a decision that clarifies the limited scope of financial institutions' liability for frauds perpetrated by customers. The Eleventh Circuit has affirmed the dismissal.

Represented a publicly-traded financial institution and its subsidiary national bank as Florida counsel with Wachtell Lipton in proposed class action on behalf of certain borrowers. The district court dismissed most of the claims, and the case then settled on favorable terms.

Represented high-rise condominium developer against a plaintiff claiming a property interest in 60 units and seeking to hold up development by filing a lis pendens and a complaint. Obtained dissolution of lis pendens and dismissal of complaint with prejudice. Rulings affirmed on appeal.

Represented UBS in IRS action brought seeking to compel UBS to disclose the names of accountholders as Florida counsel. Worked with Cravath, Swaine & Moore LLP and Wachtell Lipton to oppose an IRS petition seeking information on many thousands of client accounts located exclusively in Switzerland, even though compliance would have compelled UBS employees to commit crimes in Switzerland. Settled on favorable terms.

Represented company offering online brokerage services in lawsuit brought by investors alleging that the company violated the Commodities Exchange Act by aiding and abetting an investment pool operator in his scheme to defraud investors. The district court granted a motion to dismiss the investors' claims, and the Fifth Circuit affirmed.

Represented seller of credit card processing software in case alleging defects in that software in Florida state court and claiming an entitlement to about $6 million in damages. Settled on favorable terms.

Represented leading manufacturer of roofing in litigation challenging $1 billion merger with another roofing manufacturer against a plaintiff shareholder's motion for a preliminary injunction. Plaintiff shareholder decided not to pursue motion for preliminary injunction.

Government Litigation

Represented nine plaintiffs in challenging a federal settlement agreement between a developer and the City of Miami that would have permitted the development of a proposed gambling facility in Miami's Edgewater Neighborhood. On summary judgment, the Miami-Dade Circuit Court Judge ruled that the Mayor had validly vetoed the proposed federal settlement and invalidated the settlement. The Circuit Judge has entered final judgment.

Represented Florida public college and university donors, recent graduates, and proposed classes of donors, students, and recent graduates in a lawsuit for over $1 billion in damages for money owed to Florida's public colleges, universities, and their students. The lawsuit was based on four separate State statutes that appropriated money for, and required the colleges, universities, and their foundations to enter into gift agreements that required the State to match private donations made to support higher education through facilities improvements, aid, and scholarships. After defeating two rounds of motions to dismiss and winning on appeal in the First District Court of Appeal, a second panel of the First District Court of Appeal dismissed the case as barred by sovereign immunity, and the Florida Supreme Court declined review.

Represented MDM Development in administrative proceedings after certain archaeologists made claims about the Tequestas, the earliest known inhabitants of the site of MDM's $140-million plus development, which led the City's Historical and Environmental Protection Board to repudiate prior development approvals. After an evidentiary hearing, the ensuing mediation resulted in the development going forward and a plan to preserve and showcase archaeological features associated with the Tequestas within the development.

Represented MDM Development as intervenor in a Sunshine Law challenge brought to that mediation and obtained a summary judgment rejecting all claims, which the Florida Third District Court of Appeal affirmed.

Represented individual in filing petition to the Eleventh Circuit seeking review of a Board of Immigration Appeals' decision finding him removable and denying his application for withholding of removal and relief under the United Nations Convention on Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment ("CAT"). Without oral argument, the Eleventh Circuit granted the petition for review, vacated the removal order, and remanded.

Trials and Resulting Appeals

For over 9 years, starting immediately after the Florida real estate market crash, represented BBX Capital Corporation and its Chairman and CEO Alan Levan, which owned one of the largest Florida-headquartered banks in an SEC investigation and then enforcement action alleging BBX had concealed loan risks. A six-week jury trial and split verdict in 2014, a successful appeal to the Eleventh Circuit in 2016, and a second six-week jury trial in 2017 resulted in a verdict and judgment for BBX and Mr. Levan rejecting every claim asserted by the SEC.

Represented BBX and certain officers and directors in a private securities class action. After a 6-week jury trial and a verdict mostly for the defendants, the District Court entered judgment as a matter of law for defendants on every claim. The judgment was then affirmed, on other grounds, by the United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit.

Represented BBX in litigation brought by debtholders in the Delaware Chancery Court, which, after a trial, entered an injunction against the structure of BBX's proposed sale of its banking subsidiary to BB&T. The sale was then restructured so BBX sold its banking subsidiary to BB&T at the same 10 percent deposit premium.

Represented leading direct mail media company in an expedited litigation to compel a major marketing and communications company to perform the obligations outlined in its Agreement of Purchase and Sale to buy the company for about $1.4 billion. After one week of trial, settled on favorable terms.

Represented real estate developer against over 20 insurers for billions of dollars in losses stemming from the events of September 11 at the World Trade Center. Two separate juries found some insurers liable and others not liable, leaving the determination of damages for a later phase of the proceedings. In total, the juries found insurers liable for up to $4.7

billion in property damages. The Second Circuit affirmed and case then settled on favorable terms.
